Prepared by the Department of Student Services

Message From The Director of Student Services

Dear Students,

Welcome to Lincoln University! Joining a university to start or further a career and gain valuable knowledge is one of the most important and consequential decisions one can make in their lives. At Lincoln University, we understand that, and we are here to assist you in every way we can to make your time at Lincoln University productive, fulfilling, and exciting.

This handbook is designed as a guide for your time at Lincoln University. It will provide you with the useful information regarding your life as a student both on and off campus.

Lincoln University is committed to academic excellence, diversity, and integrity. We are focused on creating a nurturing atmosphere of mutual appreciation, learning, and exploration. Most of all, we are committed to your success – academic, professional, and personal. Above all, we are committed to your success—academic and professional. We encourage you to seek assistance whenever you have a doubt and to provide feedback whenever you have a concern.

With best wishes,
Director of Student Service

Welcome to Lincoln University!

Lincoln University is a private, non-profit, non-sectarian educational institution based in Oakland, California. It was founded in 1919 by Dr. Benjamin Franklin and Susan Lickey. The mission of Lincoln University is to offer traditional educational programs across diverse fields of study, delivered by experienced educators, and designed to lead to outstanding employment opportunities for both American and international students. By joining Lincoln University, you are becoming a part of a century-long legacy, and we are excited to help you achieve your educational and life goals.

This Handbook provides students with information about university resources, an overview of student life, and a description of important university principles and procedures. We hope that the Handbook will serve as a practical guide, offering both reference and assistance.

To create and maintain a well-functioning, academically rigorous, and socially responsible community, it is essential to have a shared understanding of values and principles. The core of this understanding at Lincoln University is expressed in the Honor Code and Code of Ethics (Appendix 1). Please take the time to familiarize yourself with these documents. As students, you will be expected to uphold these standards, both in your classes, within the broader community of Lincoln University, and, we hope, in your life.

Lincoln University is committed to serving a diverse community of students from all over the world. We believe that a wide range of backgrounds and perspectives enriches the University experience, fostering creativity and innovation. These core values are reflected in the Diversity and Inclusive Excellence Statement (Appendix 2).

Over the years, the faculty and administration of Lincoln University have developed a variety of policies and procedures addressing numerous issues (from fair grading to attendance and freedom of expression). We strongly encourage you to take a moment to review the List of Administrative Policies and Procedures (Appendix 3). These policies are in place to guide the functioning of the University, and it is important for students to be aware of them. The full text of these documents can be obtained from the Dean of Students or online through the Lincoln University website.

These documents contain numerous important values and principles, one policy is so essential that it must be highlighted here. Lincoln University does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, or ethnic origin in the administration of its educational policies, loan and scholarship policies, or any other faculty, staff, or student program or activity. We are proud of our diverse community of students, faculty, and administrators, united by a belief in the importance of education for all.

Important Documents

During your time at Lincoln, you will necessarily deal with a wide variety of documentation. Nobody likes paperwork, yet it is necessary: it establishes the formal basis for the relationship between students and the University, protecting the rights of all parties involved. The documents briefly described below can be considered the most important ones:

Enrollment Agreement is the agreement that creates an obligation binding a student to purchase a program of study or course offered by Lincoln University. The agreement specifies the estimated length and price for the educational program requested by the student and transcripts provided for courses transferred from previous education.

Academic Catalog is the document that accurately represents the academic programs, policies, and personal expectations of the university as of the date of publication. Lincoln University reserves the right to make changes of any nature in academic programs, the calendar, and academic policy whenever these are deemed necessary or desirable. However, the university guarantees that a student will be able to graduate from the program following the catalog received at the moment of signing the enrollment agreement. Our catalog is a comprehensive resource designed to help you prepare for your time at the University.

Registration form is the document specifying the process of term registration or signing up for courses in a semester or summer session. Students are charged tuition/fees when they register. Students are enrolled in the term of study after they pay the tuition and fees.

Deferred Payment Plan is the agreement / contract allowing students to pay term tuition and fees in installments. Properly following this agreement is the first step in building a good credit history with the University.

These and other documents (listed in Appendix 4) are available online or can be provided by the Department of Student Services.

Changes to Registration Process

Please follow the steps below to complete your registration process:

1. Upon acceptance, the Admissions Office will inform each student that they are permitted to register. New and returning students should register before the beginning of each term and get pre-registration consultation on specifically announced days. The Registrar consulting with Deans, program directors, and/or Provost must approve the appropriate courses for each student's program. A student may not attend classes unless registered. A student's registration is finalized in the accounting office by the payment of the full tuition or arrangement and signing of a deferred payment plan.
2. The student's choice of courses, once selected and filed, is expected to be permanent for the term. However, students may change the term schedule before the last date when classes can be added/dropped without penalty as indicated in the academic calendar. Courses added later must be approved by the instructor and the Provost or President before the Registrar makes registration changes.
3. All Student should contact Student Services if you need to buy health insurance. If you have already purchased your health insurance, please provide a copy of the insurance to the Student Services department, studentservices@lincolnuca.edu.

4. All local and international students may be eligible to apply for Private loans from U.S. lending and banking institutions. These private banking loans or collegiate student loans must include a U.S. citizen or U.S. permanent resident as co-signer of the loan application. Further information may be obtained from Lincoln University Financial Aid Office. finaid@lincolnuca.edu.
5. All students must then check with the Accounting Office to pay in full or make payment arrangements at accounting@lincolnuca.edu.

You are not required to come to the school to complete all the steps. Your registration form will be processed electronically at the school. It is your responsibility to follow up with the relevant departments to complete your registration.

To review the courses you registered for, you may log in to <https://lincolnuca.mycampus-app.com> with your Lincoln email address and the same password for your Lincoln email. You can get assistance with your Lincoln email address by contacting the Computer Lab.

Mode of Instruction

Students should contact the computer lab if they have communication or technical problems while attending online classes.

Different instructors may have different ways of delivering the course based on the material being covered. Please carefully read the course syllabi and contact instructors in case of any questions.

Library

The Library also offers a curbside pick-up of books. Please contact the Circulation Desk at (510) 379-4048 or library@lincolnuca.edu for further information.

If you have any library books/materials in your possession, please note that all overdue fines and fees are suspended while the shelter-in-place order is in effect.

Description of Student-Related Administrative Offices

Lincoln University is a small community by design: we believe in value of a personable attitude in creating a lively, friendly, and engaging environment. The information below will help you to get to know some of the important administrative offices that you may need to interact with during your studies.

President

Dr. Mikhail Brodsky is the President of Lincoln University.

Administrative Vice President

Dr. Michael Guerra is the Administrative Vice President

Dean of Students

Dr. Mohamed Tailab is the Dean of Students

Student Services

The Department of Student Services provides information on housing, health insurance, personal counseling, academic and extra-curricular activities, career planning, and job placement, with the goal of helping each student make the most of their time at Lincoln University.

Student services at Lincoln University are designed to support and promote the intellectual, cultural, and social development of students.

Admissions and Registrar Office

The Director of Admissions and the Registrar Office is responsible for activities related to student admissions and registration at Lincoln University, including the maintenance of student records. The Director also reviews student records to determine graduation clearance.

Additionally, the Admissions Office provides information and assistance to international students regarding the maintenance of non-immigrant (F-1) student status.

The Registrar is responsible for reviewing student transcripts for accuracy and compliance with Lincoln University requirements. The Registrar evaluates student transcripts to certify completion for graduation and is also responsible for advising students in course selection.

The office distributes course schedules, processes course adds, drops and withdrawals, maintains grade records, and fulfills transcript requests.

Finance / Accounting Office

The Accounting Office conducts all financial business of the University, including maintaining records of student accounts. Students needing information regarding payment methods, tuition payments, tuition statements for tax purposes, or general financial matters should contact the Accounting Office.

Computer Lab

The Computer Lab is responsible for the maintenance of Lincoln University's computers and data-processing operations within the University. The Computer Lab is open during school hours for all registered students. A lab assistant is available to help students with problems. Students receive their Lincoln University email address from the Computer Lab.

Financial Aid Office

Lincoln University financial aid program is geared to assist students who cannot otherwise meet educational expenses. It determines the eligibility of students for available financial aid.

Library

The Head Librarian directs the library staff in providing academic sources of information for students. This includes electronic resources as well as printed materials. The Library purchases books, magazines, and reference materials to keep academic information up to date and provides workshops to help students learn how to use library materials effectively.

The Library has an open-shelf arrangement that facilitates direct access to the collection and encourages browsing in any field of interest. The library staff offers students general reference assistance and provides specialized help with complex research questions. Library workshops are held each term and the Head Librarian is available by appointment for one-on-one library instruction.

The library collection includes 14,000 volumes in print, as well as an array of online resources. The growing collection of electronic resources includes databases with over 70,000 e-books, 2,000 educational videos, and 15,000 full-text journals, newspapers, and other publications. Students can access these online resources off-campus with the proper login and password, which they can request from the library staff at any time.

Welcome Session and Orientation

At the start of each semester, the university hosts a Welcome Session where key leaders, including the President, Provost, Dean of Students, and other faculty, introduce themselves and provide important information about university resources and support services. This session offers a valuable opportunity to learn who to approach for academic or personal support. We highly recommend attending to familiarize yourself with the university and make meaningful connections from day one.

Academic Policies and Procedures

This section provides a brief outline of some important academic policies and procedures. You can find more detailed information in Lincoln University Catalog.

Registration

Every year the University offers Fall and Spring semesters of 16 weeks each and a compact Summer Session of 7 weeks as part of our regular academic schedule.

During the registration days (announced in advance), new and returning students are advised by faculty on the most appropriate courses to be selected. Students may also receive advice from the Dean or Registrar. Registration days allow student to interact with faculty and University officials directly and to get valuable academic recommendations before embarking on the course of study.

Please bear in mind that students are expected to pay tuition and fees at the time of registration. Registration is not complete until all fees and tuition are paid, or a deferred payment plan is established and signed. A student may not attend classes unless they are registered.

A student's registration is finalized in the accounting office by the payment of the full tuition or arrangement and signing of a deferred payment plan.

Classes / Coursework

Syllabus

Students usually receive a syllabus during the first week of class. The Syllabus is a contract between the instructor and students: the instructor outlines what will be achieved by the end of the course, and how it will be facilitated. The syllabus defines instructional materials, methods and specific policies and requirements for the course. It also provides a schedule for each class week and assessment criteria for determining the course grade. Do not hesitate to ask your professor to clarify their teaching methods, grading system, or any other issues you may have.

Attendance

Lincoln University believes in the importance of a systematic approach to learning. Attending classes is crucial, as it is only through attending classes that the student can obtain knowledge in a coherent and complete way.

Please note that attending a class for 15 minutes or for half of the session does not constitute "attendance". Students should be present for the entire class period.

The University is required by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to report all foreign students who are dropped for excessive absences (please refer to the Attendance section in the LU Catalog).

Teaching Style

You should expect variety: instructors have their unique teaching styles. However, it is common for Lincoln University instructors to facilitate in-class discussions, where each student has an opportunity to contribute. Instructors often call their students by their first name; students are not required to stand when called upon in class.

Office hours and out-of-class appointments

All professors set aside time during the week to see students. If you cannot find time to see your professor during office hours, ask them for special appointments. If you find that your professors are not accessible, ask Student Services for help. Do not let problems or questions pile up to the point where you find yourself struggling with your coursework. Take care of problems as they arise.

Textbooks

In American universities, students purchase their own textbooks. Lincoln University Library keeps some textbooks on reserve, for three hours use only.

We strongly recommend reading the course syllabus before buying your textbook. Sometimes students wish to sell their textbooks from previous semesters. It is customary for the price to be about half of the new price, if the book is in a good condition. You may speak to the Librarian if any help is needed in locating books.

Students can submit their textbook selling notice to Student Services by emailing studentservices@lincolnuca.edu. If you do, include a photo of the textbook cover, the title and author of the book, the ISBN number, the edition of the book, your price, and your contact information.

There is a Facebook group where Lincoln University students can join to sell their textbooks. Go to Lincoln Uni Oakland page, and click under the group's category to find Lincoln University Market.

Language

During the first semester, international students may encounter language difficulties. Spoken English is very different from the English you are accustomed to when reading. Course requirements, methods of instruction, class participation homework will probably be different from what you are used to. If you attend class and are actively involved in the class these will be easier for you to manage. However, we strongly encourage you to ask for additional writing and speaking tutoring: Library hosts a Writing and Speaking Center, where you will be paired up with an advisor, who will help you identify your language needs and develop strategies of addressing them.

Leave of Absence

A student who finds it necessary to withdraw or delay his/her education for one or more semesters must submit a written request for leave of absence to the Provost. All international students must consult with the Designated School Official (DSO) before submitting such request.

Student Records

Students have a right to access his/her records maintained by the University. The University maintains educational records of all students permanently. The educational records include documents related to admissions, enrollment agreement, course grades, and related academic information. These records are kept in custody of the Registrar, who ensures that the privacy and confidentiality of all student records are protected under the applicable law. The University fully incorporates the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) in its entirety. A written consent from the student is required before educational records may be disclosed to third parties except for regulatory educational agencies. A student seeking to review his/her educational records must submit a written request to the Records Office. The school is not responsible for loss of records due to nature, war, and destruction as a result of severe weather, vandalism, or acts of terrorism, etc

Transcripts

Graduating students who wish to request transcripts should refer to the University Catalog for the procedure and fees.

Email Accounts

Lincoln University students are provided with a Lincoln University email ID. You can obtain yours at the Computer Lab. It is important to use your Lincoln University email when you communicate with staff and professors.

Student Life

This section of the handbook provides supplementary information about both academic and non-academic aspects of life at Lincoln University.

Individual Responsibility

Lincoln University assumes that students will exhibit the standards of mature and responsible individuals. Any form of dishonesty, cheating, irresponsible behavior or lawbreaking may result in disciplinary action.

Dress Code

While Lincoln University does not have a specific dress code, attire should be appropriate to demonstrate respect for your fellow students and the purpose of the University as an institution of higher learning.

Student Lounge / Snack Bar

The Student Lounge provides a simple and relaxing area, where students can socialize, rest, eat, and hold meetings. The lounge has:

- Snack Bar and Lounge Area: a place where students can purchase a variety of foods to eat or enjoy meals they bring from home. Snack Bar hours are posted outside the entrance of the Student Lounge. The Snack Bar was founded on the idea of providing students with choices of snacks and drinks at reasonable prices while helping student staff gain experience in managing operations of a small business. The Snack Bar employees have food handling certificates.
- Amenities: Projector, pool table, table tennis, PlayStation, high-definition television and cable box are provided during operation hours.
- Newly redesigned study room: a place for students to have group project meetings, regular group study sessions, tutoring sessions, individual study, or a quiet place to read. The study room is equipped with desks, chairs, and a whiteboard.

There is an additional study area on the 4th floor of the main campus building (Room 405), which is used for individual study sessions. There is also a small lounge area on the 4th floor with microwaves and vending machines. If the vending machine fails to operate, please report the problem to Student Services Office.

It is important that all who use the lounge or break room be considerate to others by disposing of trash and clearing the tables before leaving. Food and beverages are to be consumed only in the lounges. Food and beverages are not permitted in the classrooms. Smoking is not allowed anywhere on campus.

The Bay Area culture emphasizes recycling. Please use appropriate bins for disposing of your trash.

Student Health Care and Health Insurance

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) requires all students studying in the United States on F-1 visas to have health insurance. In fact, because of the high cost of health care, all students, regardless of their visa status, should carry health insurance.

Lincoln University requires all international students to have health insurance coverage at the time of registration. Students must present evidence of their healthcare coverage by showing an original document provided by the healthcare provider, which indicates the student's name and academic term covered, to Student Services. Students are responsible for purchasing their healthcare insurance coverage at their own expense. Students can choose from a variety of options, including ISO, International Student Insurance, iNext, and Kaiser Permanente.

The U.S. Medical care and health insurance systems are expensive and complex. A visit to the doctor may cost a minimum of $150. An overnight stay at a hospital can cost thousands of dollars. In purchasing medical insurance, you should carefully consider the following:

- Deductible
- Co-Insurance
- Physician's Office Visit Coverage
- Hospital Inpatient Coverage
- Hospital Outpatient Coverage
- Emergency Hospital Services and Costs
- Emergency Medical Evacuation
- Mental Health
- Prescription Drug Coverage

Some health insurance terms you should know:

- Co-pay or copayment – the dollar amount that you pay at the time of service after the deductible.
- Co-insurance – the percentage of the cost you are responsible for.
- Deductible – the amount you are responsible to pay for covered expenses before the insurance plan begins to pay.
- Health Care Provider – a person or business that provides health care services. Most health care providers are part of a network. HMO is a Health Maintenance Organization. PPO is a Preferred Provider Organization. These have different policies/procedures/deductibles.

You should carefully review your options to be certain you understand what medical expenses are covered and what you are required to pay for.

Students who receive United States medical insurance coverage through an employer-sponsored or a family plan. This would be as part of the U.S. employment compensation through your or your spouse's employer. Be sure to bring proof of insurance to the Department of Student Services. If your employment – and the insurance coverage – ceases during the semester, the student will have to purchase medical insurance until the end of the semester.

Students on a government-sponsored scholarship, which provides compatible insurance coverage as part of the sponsorship – bring proof of your government scholarship that includes proof of your health insurance to the Department of Student Services.

The health insurance may not necessarily cover all medical expenses related to an illness or an accident and students may be required to pay for medical care and then wait to be reimbursed. Thus, it is recommended that each student set aside some emergency funds. If medical treatment is covered by insurance and you pay for it directly, you can apply to the health insurance company for reimbursement. Often a doctor will apply to the health insurance company for payment and bill the patient if there is any balance due. Some student health insurance will also cover the cost of physician-prescribed medication.

All insured students should have a health insurance ID card delivered via email or mail. Print it out and always carry it with you so that you have it when you seek medical care or have an emergency. Your ID card is proof that you are covered by insurance. Some health care providers will not treat uninsured patients. You need to apply for reimbursement of fees paid. Contact Student Services staff in Room 103 for information on how to make claims. In the event, you need additional help with insurance or if you need help finding the right kind of health care, you can discuss your concerns with the Director of Student Services.

Please note that a student can obtain additional information on dental health, insurance policies and other additional information on some free clinics throughout The Bay Area. Please stop by Room 103 for more information.

Generally, it is not a good idea to use emergency services for minor illnesses or routine care! Fees for emergency services are high and probably won't be covered by your health insurance unless the problem can truly be considered an emergency. In order to find out about the different providers, please contact the insurance companies directly. These facilities treat patients regardless of national origin, race, sex, or religion. If you experience a critical life-threatening medical condition, CALL 911!

Medical and Other Emergencies

If you have a serious accident or are in extreme pain and cannot go to a hospital emergency room, call 911 or have a friend call on your behalf, the city-wide emergency services number. An operator trained to handle emergencies will arrange for an ambulance if needed or will give you directions on what to do. The 911 operators have interpreters available for several languages. If the 911 operators cannot find someone who speaks your language, try to speak slowly so you can be understood. In the event of a fire or if you need emergency help from the police, you should also call 911.

NEVER CALL 911 IN NON-EMERGENCY SITUATIONS. YOU WILL TIE UP THE LINE AND PREVENT OTHERS FROM GETTING HELP.

Dental Care

Dental care is not covered by your student health insurance except for injury to teeth during an accident. Some dental schools/clinics in the Bay Area provide low fee dental care. There may be, however, a waiting list for their services. It would be wise to call and make an appointment for routine care rather than waiting until you have to seek an expensive emergency treatment.

A list of dental providers Student Services can be obtained from the Department of Student Services in Room 103.

Lincoln University Student Association (LUSA)

Every fall semester, a general election is held, giving students the opportunity to vote for Student Government members. These members will serve as the voice of students in matters related to self-governance and University life. The purpose of the Student Government is to initiate student activities, promote the welfare of students on campus, and allocate LUSA funds for student activities.

The student government is composed of four executives elected by the entire student body. These executives include President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer. Any student with appropriate qualifications may run for these positions.

The Lincoln University Student Association President is the principal administrator and is assisted by the other members of the Student Government in carrying out their responsibilities.

Each member of the Student Government must:

- Be in good academic standing - those on probation are not eligible to hold office.
- Represent Lincoln University in a respectable manner at all times.
- Refrain from engaging in any illegal activities.
- Be willing to serve all students regardless of race, gender, sexual orientation or class.
- Be present for at least 95% of meetings.
- Be a team player.

Two weeks prior to elections, a general Student Body meeting is held so that all students can be informed about the election process. Students who qualify for election may stop by the Student Services Office to pick up an application and guideline packet. The due date for submitting the application will be announced and printed on the application packet.

Who should consider being a member of the Student Government?

- Those who care about students and Lincoln University.
- Those who want to organize interesting social, cultural or recreational activities.
- Those who want to develop leadership skills.
- Those who want to develop diplomatic skills.

- Those interested in politics and the democratic process.
- Those who want an experience that will further their career aspirations.
- Those who are willing to work hard while having fun and making new friends.

Bylaws of LUSA are available in Appendix 5.

Student Activities

Academic events focus on the development of students' knowledge and experience. Lectures by recognized authorities are held at various times throughout the academic year and are sponsored by the Student Government. Social events help to expand the students' network of contacts. Various on-campus organizations and academic departments conduct student tours, including excursions to cultural, social, and educational institutions in the San Francisco Bay Area. The university's annual ski trip to Lake Tahoe, graduation cruise party, Lincoln Olympics, and tours of San Francisco bring students and faculty together, creating an opportunity for the exchange of ideas and perspectives.

Some other events and workshops that are organized throughout the year:

- BBQs
- Cultural Day
- Halloween, and other parties on campus
- Movie Nights
- Thanksgiving Lunch, and other Holiday parties
- Art Class
- English Club
- Job Fairs
- Resume Writing Workshop
- Cover Letter Workshop
- Professional Communication Skills Workshop
- Interview Techniques Workshop
- Guest Lectures

If you have any event, workshops or club ideas or suggestions, please send an email to LUSA at lusa@lincolnuca.edu

Living in the Bay Area

A brief guide for the San Francisco Bay Area

Adjusting to a new environment and culture is not easy. You may feel that people do strange things in strange ways. The fact that people do not behave in the ways you are accustomed to is the reason why living in a different area can be fascinating and exciting experience.

Keeping an open mind and a friendly attitude will help you understand others and expand your own view of life.

Oakland

Lincoln University is located in Oakland, California – one block from the City Center. It is the 8th largest city in California and is well-known for its cultural diversity. The climate here is much sunnier than in San Francisco. The average temperature in January is 60°F (16°C). In July, the average temperature is 72°F (23°C).

The city of Oakland runs the “Safety and Maintenance Ambassador Program”. This is a flagship of the Downtown Oakland and Lake Merritt-Uptown Community Benefit Districts. The program consists of 30 full-time, highly visible Ambassadors that circulate throughout Downtown Oakland providing essential security, maintenance, and hospitality services. The staff works daily to improve our neighborhood by creating a cleaner, safer and more hospitable downtown for all to enjoy. The Safety and Hospitality Ambassador Program Hours of Operation:

Monday-Friday 7:00 am - 9:00 pm

Saturday 2:00 pm-11:00 pm

For Ambassador assistance, call 510-898-8592

San Francisco

Located just six miles away, across the San Francisco Bay, San Francisco is a world-famous city, filled with a rich history of cultural, social, and technological events that changed not only the surrounding area but has affected the entire globe. From culinary masterpieces to hidden castles, between century-old bunkers, and the prison that held the notorious gangster Al Capone, between the psychedelic Ashbury St. and the clean-cut Financial District, San Francisco is a true whirlwind of colors and sounds.

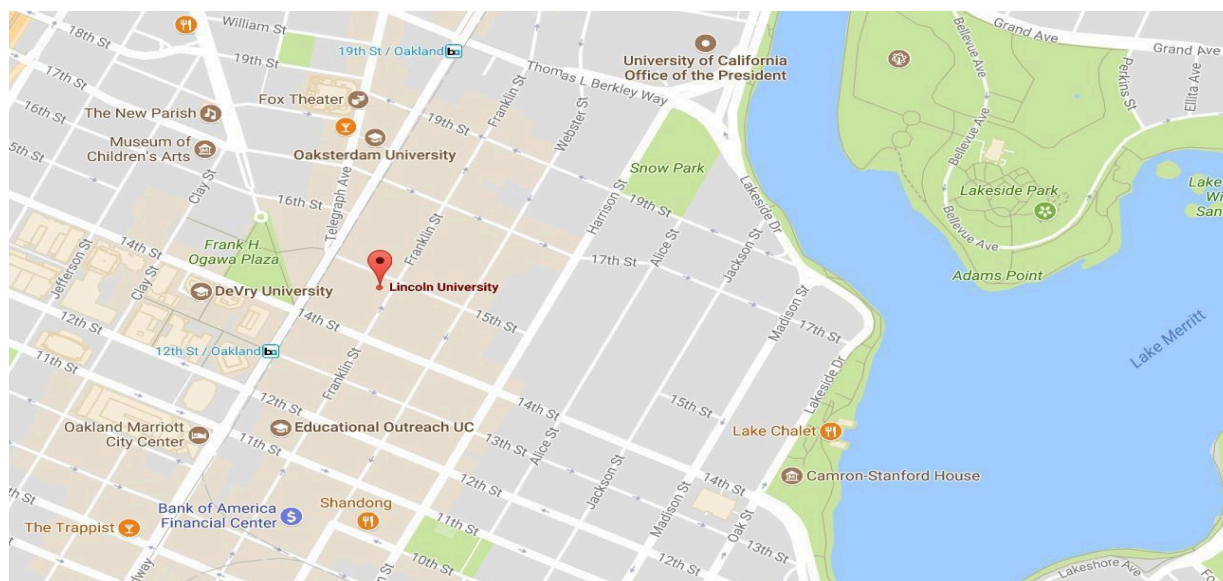

Berkeley

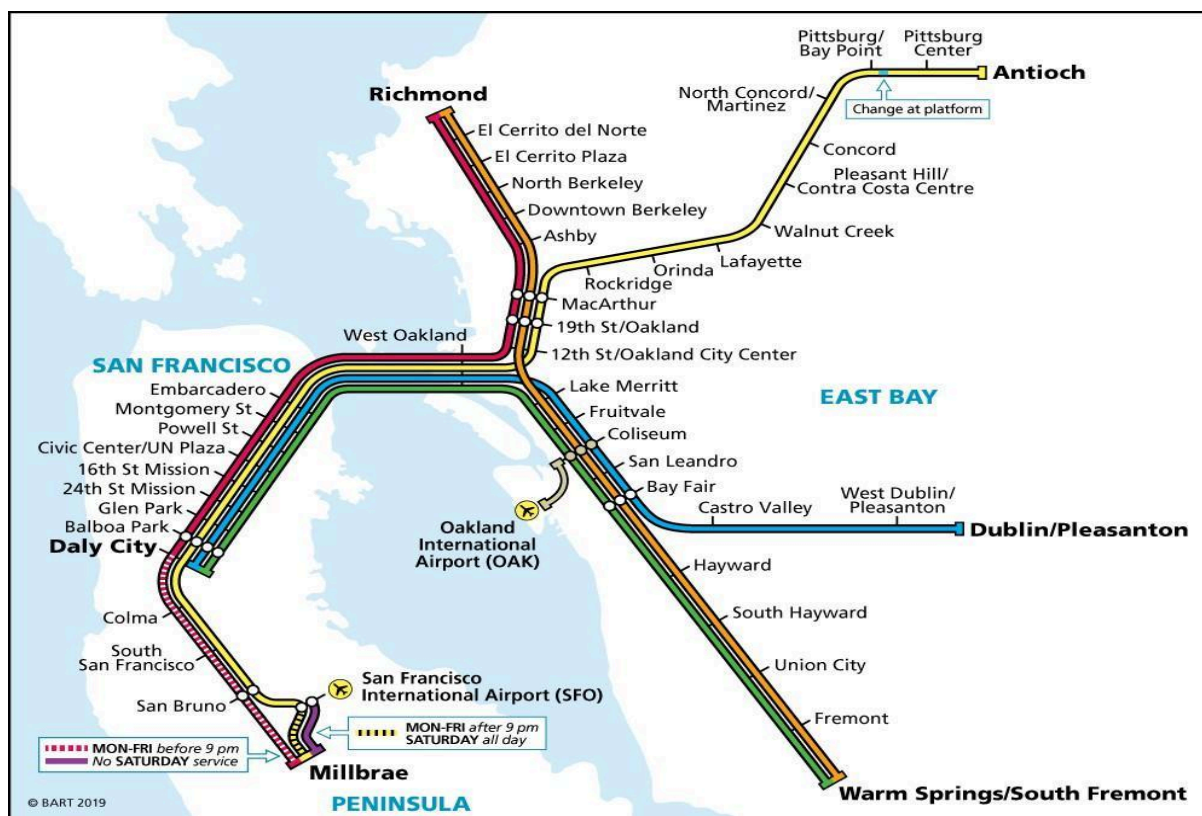

A city famous as the home of the University of California Berkeley, Berkeley is a gem of a place, with a true student-town feel to it. Along with its educational prowess, the city boasts a fine array of beautiful architecture displaying the many artistic and cultural movements that met in the intersection of civilizations that is the Bay Area.

Silicon Valley

Silicon Valley, in the southern part of the San Francisco Bay Area, is the home to many start-ups and global technology companies. Apple, Facebook, Tesla, and Google are among the most prominent. It is also the site of technology-focused institutions centered around Palo Alto's Stanford University. The Computer History Museum and NASA's Ames Research Center are located in Mountain View. The Tech Museum of Innovation is in San Jose.

Adjusting To The New Culture

Culture shock is a term used to describe the anxiety and feelings (of surprise, disorientation, confusion, etc.) that people experience when they have to adjust to an entirely different cultural or social environment, such as a foreign country.

Culture and Customs

One of the biggest challenges international students face is adapting to the way things are done in the United States. Many customs and social norms here may be different from those you are used to, and some may even conflict with what you grew up with. It's important to understand that this isn't about what is right or wrong—it's simply a reflection of the different cultures around the world and how people live in different places.

Oakland and the general Bay Area are multi-ethnic communities. Many nationalities have maintained their cultural identities and customs. Some people keep their customs while simultaneously adapting to an American lifestyle. We do not expect that you will change your life overnight or even change it at all. We want to describe some customs you will encounter during your stay here.

Oakland and the Greater Bay Area are particularly unique in the United States. It attracts people globally. International students arriving in San Francisco may be quite surprised to find that the people of San Francisco often seem indifferent to them. This may contrast with their own countries where a student from a different culture might provoke curiosity. Here an international student is treated as a part of the usual population of the Bay Area. Indeed, the international student hoping to have a "typically American" experience may find the Bay

Area to differ from their expectations.

In the Bay Area, "typical American" means a vast mix of people from many cultures and ethnic groups who, for the most part, get along well even if they seem to have little interest in each other's cultures.

New students sometimes find themselves in a state of culture shock. After initial feelings of excitement, you may be surprised to notice yourself feeling uncomfortable with customs that may seem unreasonable or unfamiliar to you. You may experience feelings of loneliness, depression, or confusion. These feelings are normal, and if you want to talk about it, the staff of the Department of Student Services is always there to help.

As you become familiar with the Bay Area and make friends, these uncomfortable feelings will recede. In fact, you may be surprised to find yourself having these feelings of a culture shock when you return home and see your own culture in a new light.

Everyday English

Spoken English is very different from written English. It is full of expressions that may not make sense to those who are not fluent in the language. Listening to the television and radio as well as speaking to Americans will help you overcome this language barrier quickly.

An example of the expression you will encounter centers around the many ways people say goodbye. "Be seeing you", "See you later", does not necessarily mean you are going to see that person later. It is simply a way of saying goodbye. And when someone says, "Let's get together soon", it is not necessarily an invitation. It's another way to say goodbye. Do not mistake friendly goodbyes for invitations.

We strongly encourage you to speak only English at Lincoln University, even with people from your own country. The more you practice, the easier it will be for you to achieve your educational and career goals.

Making Friends

You may notice that Americans often enjoy conversation and like to keep it going, sometimes with small talk about everyday topics like the weather. Many people find this a natural way to connect with others. In general, Americans are friendly and welcoming in social settings.

At the same time, it's important to remember that building close friendships takes time. While many people have a large network of acquaintances, deeper friendships usually develop gradually through shared experiences and trust. The connections you make during the semester may change over time as people's schedules and priorities shift, but that's a natural part of life.

At Lincoln University, you'll have the opportunity to meet students from all over the world. Everyone approaches friendship differently, so staying open to different ways of connecting will help you form meaningful relationships.

It's completely normal to feel lonely at times—everyone does. But don't be discouraged if some connections don't immediately turn into close friendships. Keep engaging with others, and over time, you'll find the people who truly make you feel at home.

Punctuality

Punctuality is highly valued in the United States, especially in professional and academic settings. You should always be on time—or preferably a few minutes early—for appointments with your doctor, academic advisor, or professors. Arriving promptly to class is also important, as some professors may consider you absent if you arrive late.

Social occasions, however, follow a more flexible approach. For most social events, arriving exactly on time is not always necessary. However, if you expect to be more than 20 minutes late, it is courteous to inform your host. If you accept an invitation, your hosts will expect you to attend. If you are uncertain about attending, it is better to decline the invitation rather than accept and not show up.

By being mindful of punctuality, you demonstrate respect for others' time and contribute to a positive and professional environment.

Weather in the Bay Area

Newcomers to the Bay Area sometimes have difficulty getting used to the weather. If you are from a warm climate, you may feel uncomfortable at first. Although the Bay Area climate is considered temperate, it is rarely truly warm and even more rarely it is hot. San Francisco is famous for its fog, which can come rolling in quite unpredictably. Even on warm days, it is wise to keep a coat or jacket with you. Oakland is typically warmer than San Francisco; however, it gets cold and rainy during the winter season because of the close proximity to the ocean.

If you go just a few miles inland, you will find the climate is often quite hot in the summer. Many people in the Bay Area dress in layers to adjust to changing temperatures as they move between different cities.

Winters here are cold and usually rainy. In a normal winter season, from November to March, it is expected to see a lot of rain and temperatures to be quite low.

Worshipping in the San Francisco Bay Area

We understand that for many people, religious activities become especially meaningful when they are far from home. Fortunately, the Bay Area offers a diverse range of places of worship, including numerous religious groups that provide bilingual or foreign-language services.

Below is a list of a few places of worship near our university. However, you may also find other locations throughout the Bay Area that better meet your spiritual needs:

Recreation and Entertainment

The San Francisco Bay Area is filled with activities to occupy your leisure time. Some may cost money, while many are free. Often, you can obtain student discounts for entertainment that costs money. BART provides a list of monthly events on its website, many of which are free and easily accessible by public transit. Please refer to www.sfgate.com/thingstodo.

The Oakland and San Francisco Recreation and Parks Departments offer a variety of opportunities to participate in sports, enjoy the natural beauty of the area, and attend concerts and other cultural events. The cities have a number of public tennis courts, available for your use, free of charge. There are also a number of swimming pools. You will have to pay a small fee each time you swim. In the Bay Area, you may contact Berkeley 24 - Hour Visitor Info at (510) 642-1124.

The San Francisco Book is one of the most comprehensive guides to recreation, entertainment, and sightseeing is free of charge from the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau. The San Francisco Visitor Information Center is located at 749 Howard St, San Francisco, CA 94103. You can also call the Visitor Information Center if you have questions. Their phone number is 415-391-2000. The 24-hour Event Recording phone number is 415-391-2001.

Online news platforms and mobile apps are excellent sources of up-to-date information on local events and recreational activities. Websites like SFGate and The East Bay Times regularly feature sections on arts, entertainment, and things to do in the Bay Area. What was once known as the "Pink Section" in the Sunday San Francisco Chronicle now lives on digitally, accessible anytime from your phone or tablet. If you commute using BART, you'll often see digital newsstands or people browsing free news apps like NewsBreak or Apple News. Download one to stay informed and make the most of your free time, even during your ride to school.

Earthquakes

The San Francisco Bay Area lies on two major fault lines that are very likely to have at least a few mild earthquakes during your stay in San Francisco. No one can predict exactly when earthquakes will occur. Earthquake preparedness specialists urge everyone living in this area to take certain precautions and to be as well prepared as possible.

It's a good idea to have an emergency supply kit with a flashlight and extra batteries, bottled water, and non-perishable food. You should also have basic first-aid supplies, a portable radio, extra batteries, and any medications you might need. Being prepared can help keep you safe and reduce stress during an emergency.

The California Academy of Science, located in The Golden Gate Park offers an earthquake simulator experience – we encourage you to give it a try!

Environment

In general, people in the Bay Area are very concerned with environmental issues. Recycling is considered very important. People conserve water, not just because of drought conditions, but because it is good for our environment. People also try to reduce their use of various fuels by limiting the amount of heat they use in their homes and by using public transportation, rather than driving, when possible.

Residents can be very vocal if they believe someone is not respecting environmental norms. For example, if you are washing your car with a great deal of water, don't be surprised if one of your neighbors comment negatively towards you. If you throw trash on the street or ignore signs asking you to recycle, you will be violating a local custom and may provoke someone to say something. In some areas, throwing trash on the street is a strict violation of the law and you will be required to pay a large fine.

Public Transportation

Learning to get around any city takes a little patience, map-reading skills, and a willingness to ask questions. The Bay Area has many types of public transportation available and the service is generally frequent and reliable.

AC TRANSIT- The Alameda - Contra Costa Transit District (AC Transit) is the third-largest public bus system in California, serving 13 cities and adjacent unincorporated areas in Alameda and Contra Costa counties. The fare is $2.50 for a single ride; however, there are discounted monthly passes that can be purchased. For more information, visit <http://www.actransit.org>.

Within San Francisco, the transportation system is run by the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (MUNI). MUNI operates the subway, trolley and bus routes throughout the city. The single trip fare costs $2.50. Take a transfer when paying and you can ride any MUNI transport until the time on the transfer without paying again. The F line trolley runs historic streetcars from all over the city and goes along Castro, Market Street, Ferry Building and then along the waterfront to Fisherman's Wharf. For more information, visit <http://www.sfmta.com>.

MUNI operates 73 lines including diesel buses, electrically powered streetcars and trains, and cable cars. It publishes a map showing the routes of its various lines. You can find more detailed information regarding MUNI online.

If you are traveling by AC Transit or MUNI daily, you should purchase a "Fast Pass" each month. Fast passes can be purchased at several locations, including many banks and supermarkets such as Safeway or Walgreens. A Fast Pass costs $86.00 a month and can be used any time on all of the MUNI lines. If you do not have a Fast Pass, you must have cash for the exact price of the ticket. Drivers do not return any change.

If you need help figuring out how to get somewhere via MUNI, locating MUNI maps, or finding out where to purchase Fast Passes, call the MUNI information line, (415) 701-2311.

If you have a smartphone or any other device that has internet access, you can get Muni schedule information via this website: <http://www.nextmuni.com>.

You can also get public transportation information, including departure times, by calling 511 (when you are in San Francisco). Simply follow the voice-activated instructions to get the information you need.

BART - This light rail system is an express train that runs from downtown San Francisco to the South and East Bay. Ticket prices vary by trip and they are purchased inside each station. For more information, visit <http://www.bart.gov>.

CABLE CARS - The cable cars run from Union Square to Fisherman's Wharf and along California Street (East of Van Ness). It is arguably the most fun way to get around town. Expect long lines at Powell Street and Fisherman's Wharf. The cost is $8.00 per ride. For more information, visit <http://www.sfcablecar.com>.

TAXI/UBER/LYFT – These are generally a safe way to get around the city at night when buses are less frequent. As in any big city, at night, you should be aware of your surroundings.

Important Tips for Buses & Train Services

- Know your route and bus schedule before you leave. Choose busy, well-lit bus stops after dark.
- Try to sit at the front of the bus near the driver.
- After 9 pm you can ask the bus driver to stop at the street closest to your destination (between bus stops). You must exit from the front door. (This is not available on express buses)
- Use the emergency phones on the platform or the emergency button on the train if you are harassed.

AIRPORTS

Oakland International Airport - Travelers looking for a low-cost and low-key alternative to San Francisco Airport (SFO) often turn to Oakland International Airport (OAK) on the east side of the San Francisco Bay Area. OAK is California's fourth largest airport and offers service to 55 international and domestic destinations. A light rail connects OAK to a BART station. Phone: (510) 563-3300, website: <http://www.flyoakland.com>.

SFO Airport - San Francisco International Airport has four terminals, including the much-praised international terminal, three of which handle domestic and Canada-bound flights. An internal transit system, AirTrain, links together the various parts of the airport.

BART services run between the airport and the cities of the Bay Area. SFO Phone: (650) 821-8211, website: <http://www.flysfo.com>.

Housing

Lincoln University guarantees accommodations to all students willing to enroll in the student housing program. Please refer to the Housing Office of the Department of Student Services at housing@lincolnuca.edu for more information.

Lincoln University offers student housing options. Currently, the University provides affordable shared dormitory style housing in the city of Alameda. This is a safe community located south of downtown Oakland. The rent starts from $750 per person monthly. The monthly rent includes utilities, high-speed Internet, and renter's insurance. The apartment complex offers controlled access, a pool, fitness center, laundry facilities, and is located near a bus stop within a short commuting distance to Lincoln University.

Students interested in the housing program should be informed of some of the costs:

- $1000.00 approximately monthly rent
- $95.00 one-time placement Fee
- $75.00 for parking space

Please note also that the university has a system of fines for anyone who breaks the housing agreement, or for any damages incurred:

- $500.00 for breaking a single-term agreement
- $100.00 renewal fee if renewing after the deadline
- $15.00 late fee after the first business day of the month
- $35.00 late fee after 10th of the month
- $75.00 late fee after 20th of the month + $95.00 placement Fee
- $20.00 surcharge for bounced checks
- $5 - 100 to replace any keys and permits

Some students choose to use housing websites and independent rental agencies to find apartments on their own, share them with other students, or live with relatives or friends. The Department of Student Services posts notices about current rental options on a housing board and refers students to various sources of temporary housing until students find their permanent accommodations.

Other Housing Options

Newspapers carry advertisements for housing accommodations. The newspapers in the San Francisco Bay Area include four major daily papers: San Francisco Chronicle, San Francisco Examiner, San Jose Mercury News, and the Oakland Tribune. There are a number of weekly and neighborhood newspapers including the San Francisco Bay Guardian, the East Bay Express, the Independent, the Berkeley Daily Planet and the Richmond Review. You can also check ads in newspapers published in a number of other languages as well as websites such as www.roommates.com, www.craigslist.org, www.rent.com, www.4stay.com and many more. More information on alternative housing options is available at the Student Services Office (Room 103).

Reading housing advertisements can be confusing, so we've compiled a list of some of the most commonly used abbreviations you're likely to encounter:

Aek	All electric kitchens as opposed to a kitchen having a gas stove
Agt. fee	The apartment available through a realtor, but you must pay a fee to the realtor if you rent. It is generally wise to avoid realtors who charge you a fee.
Agt. no fee	Apartment available through a realtor for no fee to you. The landlord pays the realtor's fee
Ba	Bathroom - "½ ba" means sink and toilet, no shower or tub
Cpts/Drps	Carpets and Drapes furnished
Dlx.	Deluxe
Frplc.	Fireplace – make sure to ask if it's working and the last time it had a chimney sweep. Fireplaces in older buildings can be fire hazards
Furn.	Furniture provided - does not include dishes, linens, etc.
Gar.	Garage
Jr. 2	Two rooms, a studio with separate dining/kitchen
Jr. 3	Three rooms, as above, with separate bedroom
Laundry	Laundry facilities in the building - usually coin operated
No pets	No animals allowed - some landlords will allow pets if you pay a larger damage deposit
Spac.	Spacious
Stove/fridge	Stove and refrigerator included
Util. inc.	Utilities included in the cost of the rent (the price of water, gas, and electricity)
Victrn.	Victorian (style of architecture) may mean very charming or very old and in poor condition
Vu.	View from the apartment - usually means additional rent, be sure the view is worth it!

Important Tips for Apartment Security

- Don't let people into the building or "buzz them in" if you don't know them. If someone wants to get into the building, (i.e.: repairmen, deliveries, salesmen) refer them to the manager.
- Never hold the door open for someone you don't know. Don't prop doors open with the floor mat or other blocks. This is a major security concern.
- Look through the peephole before answering the door.
- Don't leave notes on the door saying you are not home.
- Use only your last name and initial on the entry panel.
- Lock your door even if you are only leaving for a few minutes, such as going to the laundry room or picking up mail.
- Try to get to know your neighbors.

Important Tips when going out at Night

- Taxis, Uber, Lyft are always an option. Be sure to know the cab company and the number of the cab in case you have any problems.
- The drinking age in the US is 21 yrs. ID/Passport is required to purchase liquor or enter a bar, or night club/disco.
- Drinking in public places such as parks, beaches, cars or on the street is illegal.
- If you go to a bar, it is best to go with a group of friends.
- Do not accept drinks from strangers or leave your drink unattended.
- Date rape drugs are sometimes put into drinks when women are not paying attention.
- Drugs such as cocaine, heroin, and nightclub drugs such as ecstasy, love drugs and GHB are illegal. Do not use or possess drugs at any time. Foreign students, caught in possession of any form of nonprescription drugs will probably be deported.

Owning and Operating an Automobile

You must have a valid driver's license to drive a car. Each state in the United States issues its own driver's license. Not every state will recognize your country's driver's license or an international driver license. To obtain a state driver's license, you will be required to demonstrate your knowledge of the traffic laws. You may also be required to take a driving test. Never drive a vehicle unless you understand all the applicable road rules, recognize all the road signs, and possess a valid license to drive. You must purchase automobile insurance if you own a vehicle. In case of an accident, automobile insurance protects you against most of the costs of injuries and repairs. The cost of repairs can be very high. If you need assistance obtaining car insurance, please feel free to ask the staff at the Department of Student Services. In order to obtain a driver's license, you may need to have a Social Security Number (SSN).

Public Libraries

The U.S. Public Library System is a great free resource for everyone. You do not need a library account to browse resources or to attend various library programs. However, if you wish to borrow books or access electronic resources, you will need to apply for a library card.

To get a library card, go to the library in person, fill out the one-page application and show proof of California residence. Proof can be either (1) a California State ID or (2) another form of photo ID in addition to a letter, utility, statement, bankbook, etc. showing your name and a California address.

Once you open a library account, you will receive a library card immediately and select a unique 4-digit PIN. You can then access your account online. With your online account, you can put books on hold, renew items and access electronic databases of journal articles and e-books.

Oakland Main Public Library is only 6 blocks from Lincoln University. The Main Branch has books, magazines, and newspapers in several foreign languages. It is located at 125 14th Street, Oakland, CA 94612, tel. (510) 238- 3134, www.oaklandlibrary.org.

Oakland has 26 neighborhood branch libraries. The neighborhood libraries act as community hubs. In areas where large ethnic populations reside, the neighborhood library tries to stock books in the language of that area. For example, Spanish language books can be found in Cesar E. Chavez Branch (3301, East 12th Street, #271, tel. (510)-535-5620) and Chinese in Asian Branch, Oakland Chinatown (388, 9th Street, #190, tel. (510)-238-3400).

Neighborhood branches also respond to community needs by acting as meeting places and offer community-interest activities. These activities include films, lectures, and special programs for children. A monthly calendar of events is available at the Main Library, any of the branches, and on the website www.oaklandlibrary.org. The website also includes all the addresses and phone numbers for all branches.

The Berkeley Library is located at 2090 Kittredge St, Berkeley, tel. (510)-981-6100

San Francisco has an extensive public library system, and the Main Branch at the Civic Center downtown spans six floors. The address is 100 Larkin St., San Francisco, tel. (415) 557-4400

You will need to open a library account separately for each library system: Oakland, Berkeley, San Francisco, Alameda, etc. There is no charge for your library card or for the use of the library. There is, however, a fine for overdue books and lost or damaged books and a replacement fee if you lose your library card.

Part-Time Employment

Students on F-1 status may also be able to work through an internship program. In this situation, students must register and pay tuition for an internship course. If you are working for more than 20 hours per week, you will have to register for 3 units. Working 20 hours or less is considered as 1 unit. Information about applying for an internship is available from the Admissions and Registrar Office, and the Student Services Office.

On Campus

Postings are usually made on the bulletin boards if a job position is open in one of the departments. It is important to follow the steps outlined in the postings on how to submit your resume, etc. Please bear in mind that only students who have “good standing” with the University will be considered. Good standing constitutes acceptable attendance in classes and no overdue tuition or fees (payment plans are fine). No student on probation will be considered.

Off campus

Meet with the Director of Admissions and Registrar Office to find out if you qualify to take an internship course. If you have attendance problems or a low GPA, you may not be allowed to take the course. If it has been determined that you fulfill these requirements, follow the steps below:

- Obtain an official job offer letter from a company on the company’s letterhead signed by the manager of the department or the HR manager.
- The job offer letter should include internship start date (usually on a semester basis), job title along with duties and responsibilities. The duties and responsibilities are important since your internship work is recommended to be in your concentration – International Business, Finance Management and Investments, General Business, Human Resources Management, Management Information Systems, and Marketing Management.
- Submit the offer letter to the Admissions and Registrar Office and they will be able to use this information to update your I-20.
- Register for the internship course: BA 291 (Internship in Business) for undergraduate students or BA 391-396, BA 491-494 (based on your concentration) or BA 398 for graduate students. Undergraduate students are not qualified for internships until they have completed at least 1 year of studies.
- Once you have registered, you can start working.

Please remember that each semester you sign up for an internship, your employer will have to send us their ‘Employer Satisfaction’ Form. These forms are available either online, at the Department of Student Services, or Admissions and Registrar Office. The student may select an advisor with the approval of the Provost or the Director of the Program. The student will also have to submit a report. This report can be counted as credits towards your degree.

Student Visa Responsibilities

Your F-1 (student) status carries certain obligations. It is important that you observe them carefully. If you fail to follow the regulations set by the United States Department of Homeland Security (DHS), you risk being out of status, which may lead to losing your right to remain in the United States for further study.

You must keep your passport valid, request an extension of stay as needed, maintain a full and satisfactory course of study during the school year, keep authorities notified of your current address, and seek approval from the DHS for any contemplated change of status.

Your student visa can be revoked if you get into legal trouble. Do not get caught drinking and driving, do not use drugs, do not work illegally, and pay your traffic tickets promptly. Be careful and obey the law.

If You Need a Lawyer

If you need to consult a lawyer for any kind of problem, you can call the San Francisco Attorney Referral Service at (415) 989-1616. You will be referred to an attorney who specializes in the area of your concern.

Legal services can be very expensive. If you cannot afford legal help, contact the Legal Aid Society at 415-864-8848. You may be able to get low-fee help or referral from this organization. Also, referral assistance is available from the Department of Student Services.

The university strongly recommends that each international student to find out information about location, telephone number, and email of their country's Embassy and/or Consulate General and contact them in case of legal problems in the United States.

Sensitive Areas for Discussion

Alcohol and Drugs

It is your responsibility to be aware of and obey local laws regarding drug and alcohol use. Non-Smoking Policy on Campus

It is against the law to smoke in public buildings or within 20 feet (6 meters) of an entrance in California. Many municipalities have established ordinances prohibiting smoking in public outdoor places including golf courses. Out of respect for our students' health, Lincoln University has established a policy that anyone observed smoking on campus will be fined $300. A second offense will result in the student being dismissed from the University.

Sexual Harassment

Refer to the catalog under Compliance and Grievances.

U.S. Holidays and Observances

Like all countries, the U.S. has some interesting days of celebration. Most (but not all) are federal holidays, when government offices are closed.

Memorial Day is the United States federal holiday observed on the last Monday of May. Formerly known as Decoration Day, it commemorates U.S. men and women who died while in military service to their country. First enacted to honor Union soldiers of the American Civil War (it is celebrated near the day of reunification after the Civil War), it was expanded after World War I to include American casualties of any war or military action.

Labor Day is a United States federal holiday observed on the first Monday in September. The holiday originated in 1882 when the Central Labor Union (of New York City) sought to create "a day off for the working citizens". Congress made Labor Day a federal holiday on June 28, 1894, two months after the May Day Riots of 1894. All fifty states have made Labor Day a state holiday. Traditionally, Labor Day is celebrated by most Americans as the symbolic end of the summer.

Thanksgiving Day is a harvest festival. Traditionally, it is a time to give thanks for the harvest and express gratitude in general. It is a holiday celebrated primarily in Canada and the United States. While perhaps religious in origin, Thanksgiving is now primarily identified as a secular holiday. It is not a federal holiday, but most businesses and government agencies are closed.

Presidents Day started as a way to celebrate George Washington's and Abraham Lincoln's birthdays. It is a United States federal holiday celebrated on the third Monday of February.

July 4th is Independence Day. It is a federal holiday commemorating the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, declaring independence from the Kingdom of Great Britain. Independence Day is commonly associated with fireworks, parades, barbeques, carnivals, fairs, picnics, concerts, baseball games, political speeches and ceremonies, and various other public and private events celebrating the history, government, and traditions of the United States. Independence Day is the federal holiday of the United States.

Halloween (or Hallowe'en) is celebrated on October 31. It has roots in the Celtic festival of Samhain and the Christian holy day of All Saints. It is largely a secular celebration, but some Christians and pagans have expressed strong feelings about its religious overtones. Irish immigrants carried versions of the tradition to North America during Ireland's Great Famine of 1846. The day is often associated with the colors of orange and black and is strongly associated with symbols such as the jack-o'-lantern. Halloween activities include trick-or-treating, ghost tours, bonfires, costume parties, visiting haunted attractions, carving jack-o'-lantern, reading scary stories, and watching horror movies.

Managing Your Money

One of the first things you should do when you arrive here is open a bank account. Lincoln University has established a relationship with a specific branch of the Chase Bank here in Oakland. The banking representatives are usually available on campus for the registration days each semester. If you need the contact information of any bank, you can contact Student Services in Room 103. Please note you are also free to choose other banking institutions that you prefer. Below is some financial information intended to help you decide what is best for you.

Since you are a student you should be able to get a free checking account with most banking institutions. Always mention this on your application form.

Checking Accounts

A checking account offers you the convenience of being able to pay for things without carrying large amounts of cash with you. You will also have a record of your expenditures and proof that you have paid your bills. Of course, you must have enough money on deposit to cover the amount of the checks you have written or debit card transactions you have authorized. If you open a checking account, be sure that the person to whom you speak to shows you how to write a check, register it in the book, and balance your account after every transaction. Bring your University ID card when you decide to open the account. Always be careful about overdrafting your account, i.e, spending more than you have in the account. It is wise to get an overdraft protection (usually for a monthly fee) just in case or if you decide not to pay close attention to the amount of funds you have in your account. Overdraft fees are usually relatively high.

As a student, you should be able to get a free checking account with most banking institutions. Always mention this on your application form.

Savings Accounts

If you have a large amount of money that will pay your expenses for several months, you may want to put most of it into a savings account. You may open a savings account at either a commercial bank or a savings bank. The interest you earn on your savings may be greater at a savings bank. If you keep all your accounts in one bank, you can easily transfer money from savings to checking as needed.

Important Tips to remember when at the ATM machine

- DO NOT share your PIN (Personal Identification Number) with anyone and use different PINs for each debit and credit card.
- DO NOT record your PIN and carry it with you. Memorize your PIN number.
- DO NOT use personal identifiers (i.e. date of birth, social security number, driver's license number or address) as your PIN. If you lose your card, these may be the first numbers a criminal will try to access your bank account.
- DO be aware of suspicious activity and overly friendly individuals loitering at the ATM machines. DO NOT converse with them while banking.

Living on your own in a foreign country can be difficult. Properly managing your money to pay for school, books, rent, insurance, food, travel, and entertainment may seem like an overwhelming task. Here are some tips to help you manage your money.

Living on a Budget

- Assess your spending habits
- Determine your gross monthly income
- Determine the costs of your basic needs
- Stick to your budget

1. Assess your spending habits

The main point of a budget is to ensure two things; that your basic needs are taken care of each month and that you are completely aware of how much cash you should spend on anything non-essential.

2. Determine your gross monthly income/allowance

It is important to carefully figure out (as exactly as possible) how much money you have available to spend each month.

3. Determine the costs of your basic needs

Below is a list of things that you likely have to spend money on every month (not just the things you really want, but the things that you are legally obliged to pay). As you read, try to calculate as precisely as possible what portion of your monthly income you spend in each category. (The number you see in brackets is an example):

- Rent [up to $1000 approx.]
- Food (amount for meals at home, unless you never cook) [$400 approx.]
- Utilities (heat, air conditioning, water, electric, etc.) [$100 approx.]
- Cell Phone Bill [$60 approx.]
- Cable Bill [$40 approx.]
- Car Maintenance (if you have one) [$100 approx.]
- Gas/Transportation Costs [$200 approx.]
- Health Insurance [$250 approx.]
- Car Insurance [$160 approx.]
- Tuition and university fees [$900 approx.]
- Total estimated monthly fixed cost [$3210 approx.]

4. Allocate funds for your “wants”

Be mindful of the bills you need to pay soon when determining how much money to spend on non-essential things.

5. Stick to your budget

The most important (and, arguably, the most difficult) part of managing money. The good news is that after a few weeks, sticking to the budget will become a habit.

Credit Cards

In this country, credit cards tell the story of your credit history. If you managed your funds well and did not miss a payment, you may have a “good credit score”, which is useful when buying a car, signing a lease, or making a large purchase. However, if the credit card transaction record shows the history of your spending habits (if you default on a payment or went over your limit), it will affect your credit. Your creditworthiness is regularly calculated and indicated as a credit score by major credit bureaus. Usually, the score is on a scale of 300 to 850 (850 is the highest).

Try to limit your usage of credit cards unless you are building up your credit history. Credit cards are good to have for emergencies and major purchases but using it constantly may lead to significant amount of interest that you will need to pay on your charges.

Career Services

While Lincoln University makes no explicit or implied guarantee of job placement for graduates, it does provide career guidance. By arriving at an early decision regarding career directions, students can make the most of their academic programs.

Students get individual help in career exploration, advise and critique on resumes, cover letters, and assistance in determining job objectives. Students also have an opportunity to practice and polish up their interview skills during numerous career-focused workshops.

Career Planning Process

Career planning is a lifelong process, which includes choosing an occupation, getting a job, professional growth, possibly changing careers, and eventually retiring.

- Understand yourself - Gathering information about you - is the process of gathering information about yourself to make an informed career decision. It is helpful to explore the following areas: interests, values, roles, skills and aptitudes, preferred environments, developmental needs, and personal realities.
- Develop Options
- Explore the occupations in which you are interested
- Research the industries in which you would like to work
- Research the Labor Market

Get more specific information after you narrow down your options by:

- Job Shadowing
- Full-time work, part-time work, internships, externships or volunteering in industries of your interest
- Written materials
- Informational interviews

Match - During this phase of the process, you will:

- Identify possible occupations
- Evaluate these occupations in terms of matching your needs
- Explore alternatives
- Identify short-term and some long-term options

Act - You will develop the steps you need to take to reach your goal, for example:

- Investigate sources of additional training and education, if needed
- Develop a job search strategy
- Write your resume
- Gather company information
- Compose cover letters
- Prepare for job interviews

Copyright Compliance Policy

Members of the Lincoln University community are expected to be mindful of the restrictions imposed on them by copyright law as well as the rights conferred on them by the fair use exemption to the copyright laws.

Simply put, "copyright" says that you are prohibited from using a work unless you own the copyright or have permission; "fair use" says that you may use the work with neither copyright ownership nor permission if your use is indeed fair under the legal criteria set forth in the "fair use policy". (More details: www.copyright.gov/fair-use/more-info.html)

Copyright Infringement

Lincoln University supports efforts to eliminate the illegal distribution of copyrighted material. Lincoln University students are prohibited from using the Lincoln University network to illegally download or share music, video, and all other copyrighted intellectual property.

Be aware that illegal forms of downloading and file-sharing as well as the unauthorized distribution of copyrighted materials, including unauthorized peer-to-peer file sharing, are violations of the law and may subject students not only to academic sanctions from the college but also criminal and civil penalties.

Summary of Civil and Criminal Penalties

Copyright infringement is the act of exercising, without permission or legal authority, one or more of the exclusive rights granted to the copyright owner under section 106 of the Copyright Act (Title 17 of the United States Code). These rights include the right to reproduce or distribute a copyrighted work. In the file-sharing context, downloading or uploading substantial parts of a copyrighted work without authority constitutes an infringement.

Penalties for copyright infringement include both civil and criminal penalties. In general, anyone found liable for civil copyright infringement may be ordered to pay either actual damages or “statutory” damages affixed at not less than $750 and not more than $30,000 per work infringed. For “willful” infringement, a court may award up to $150,000 per work infringed. A court can, in its discretion, also assess costs and attorneys’ fees. For details, see Title 17, United States Code, Sections 504, 505.

Willful copyright infringement can also result in criminal penalties, including imprisonment of up to five years and fines of up to $250,000 per offense. For more information, please see the website of the U.S. Copyright Office at www.copyright.gov.

Legal Alternatives for Acquiring Copyrighted Material

Students have access to Lincoln University Library’s resources via subscriptions to numerous online databases. Additionally, a fairly exhaustive list of websites from which you may legally obtain copyrighted material is published by EDUCAUSE: Legal Sources of Online Content.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. What is the difference between a course schedule and a catalog?

A course schedule includes courses that are offered in a semester. Our catalog provides a comprehensive descriptions of all courses, programs, policies, and procedures. Each student should have a copy of the catalog and become familiar with it. It is your responsibility to follow Lincoln University requirements to earn your degree. You can access the catalog on Lincoln University website, or you can pick one up from the Admissions and Registrar Office

2. How long is a semester?

Lincoln University’s academic year consists of a Fall semester, a Spring semester and a Summer session. Fall and Spring semesters consist of 16 weeks, and the Summer session consists of 7 weeks.

3. How many units do I have to take to be considered a full-time or part-time student?

International Students:

Those with F-1 visas must attend the university as full-time students. Graduate students take a minimum of 9 units per semester to be considered as a full-time student. Undergraduate students – a minimum of 12 units per semester. If summer session is the student's first academic term at the University, a minimum of 6 units must be taken during the semester for both graduate or undergraduate students. Otherwise, the summer session is optional.

Domestic Students:

To be considered full time - 9 units for graduates and 12 units for undergraduates. To receive Financial Aid, a minimum of 6 units must be taken.

4. How many hours are students expected to study outside of class?

Though it is not mandatory, it is strongly recommended that for every educational hour in the school, you devote 2-3 hours of study time outside of class. For example, if you are enrolled in 9 units (9 hours of lectures per week), you are encouraged to give an average of 18-27 hours a week toward studying outside of classes.

5. How do I pay my tuition fees?

You can pay in four ways:

Wire Transfer Information

Beneficiary: Lincoln University; Bank Name: JP Morgan Chase Bank Bank Address: 270 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10017, USA. SWIFT Code: CHASUS33; ABA / Routing Number: 021000021. Account Number: 387981852.

- Money order/Check/Cashier's check payable to Lincoln University
- Cash
- Debit/Credit Card (Visa or Mastercard) - for international credit cards, a $10 fee is applied, per transaction

6. Do I have to pay the entire tuition fee at once?

No, you do not. The Accounting Office can help you set up a payment plan.

7. Does the tuition fee include living expenses, books, etc.?

No, it does not include living expenses, books, food, etc.

8. What is the average living cost in the San Francisco Bay Area?

This depends on your living accommodations and food costs. Monthly expenses can range from $1200 and up. Again, this depends on your lifestyle.

9. Can I drop or add a course after I have registered?

Yes, but you have to do so before the last date to add or drop. Refer to the "academic calendar" page of the LU Catalog to see the dates for each semester. There is a fee to drop/add courses. The fee is waived if the courses have not started.

10. If I fail a subject, do I have to pay to retake the course and how many retakes are allowed for each subject?

Yes, you will have to pay, and you can take the course as many times as needed unless your progress report will require you to be dismissed.

11. Where do I obtain my transcript?

You can obtain a transcript from the Registrar's office. A fee is required.

12. How can I get a job on campus?

Postings are made by each department whenever there is an opening. We encourage you to check the notice boards frequently.

13. How do I apply for financial aid?

Financial aid is available to students who qualify. Please note that international students qualify for financial aid only if they have a GUARANTOR (a relative who is an American citizen). You may apply for the University's scholarships that are accessible to international students. You can obtain additional information from our website or catalog. Scholarship applications are available at the Admissions and Registrar Office or Student Services Office.

14. When or how do I get my student ID?

It typically takes 2-3 weeks after you have completed your registration process. The Admissions and Registrar Office will post signs throughout the school indicating when they are ready. The Student IDs are produced by the Admissions and Registrar Office, the whole process takes 5 minutes.

15. How can I get a Social Security card?

If you have a job offer, the Admissions and Registrar Office can help you obtain a Social Security Number. To open a bank account, you will be asked to fill out a form attesting that you are exempt, as an international student, from the Social Security Number requirement. Please speak with the Admissions and Registrar Office staff before accepting a job offer.

Final Words

This handbook is designed to provide you with essential information about life at Lincoln University and offer an insider's perspective of the San Francisco Bay Area. As you acquire more information about living in San Francisco, we encourage you to share your experiences and helpful tips with the new students. Your contributions can help them avoid some of the problems you first encountered.

We value your feedback, so please feel free to leave a suggestion in the comment box located in the student lounge. Let us know which sections you found helpful and any topics you think we should include in the next edition. We hope you enjoy your time in the Bay Area, and remember, learning about a different culture is an educational experience in itself.

Appendix 1. Student Honor Code and Code of Ethics.

Student Honor Code

Lincoln University has a proud tradition of quality education. In keeping with our mission at Lincoln University, each student should adhere to the following Honor Code, committing to participate fully and honorably.

A Lincoln University student is honorable in conduct, honest in word and action, dutiful in study and service and respectful of the rights of others. Students are expected to have their performance evaluated on the basis of their own work. The faculty, staff and students will never, by any selfish or other unworthy act, dishonor the University. It is important we maintain this high standard in all circumstances.

Code of Ethics

Admission to Lincoln University carries with it the expectations that students will conduct themselves as responsible members of our academic community. As a condition of enrollment, all students assume responsibility for observing the Code of Ethics that will contribute to the pursuit of academic goals and the welfare of the academic community.

The Code of Ethics stipulates that it is the duty of each student to behave in a courteous and ethical manner at all times and to use the principles of honesty, integrity, respect, and professionalism as a personal academic and professional guide. Practicing these attitudes and habits as a student will help form one's professional behavior.

By following the Honor Code and Code of Ethics, Lincoln University students agree to:

- Demonstrate honesty, integrity, fairness, and human dignity in all aspects of academic and personal activities, and refrain from plagiarism and dishonesty.
- Comply with the rules, regulations, procedures, policies, standards of conduct, and orders of the university.
- Respect the rights, privileges, and property of other members of this academic community and visitors to the campus, and refrain from any conduct that would interfere with university functions or endanger the health, welfare, or safety of other persons.
- Demonstrate sensitivity and understanding of diversity in the community, and respect those with different academic, religious, ethnic backgrounds, national origin, and sexual orientations.

Appendix 2. Diversity and Inclusive Excellence Policy Statement

Diversity and Inclusive Excellence Statement

Diversity is the core value of Lincoln University. Our university is defined by its people- each and every one of them. We aim to attract bright and motivated students from all over the world and give them every opportunity to thrive. We rely on our dedicated faculty members, who are passionate about their teaching and scholarship to deliver quality education. We depend on talented staff to support the operation, vision, and mission of Lincoln University.

The university is located in Northern California. The diversity of the people of the area has been the source of innovative ideas and creative accomplishments throughout history and into the present. Diversity is also a defining feature of Lincoln University's past, present, and future, referring to the variety of personal experiences, values, and worldviews that arise from differences in culture and circumstance. These differences include race, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, language, abilities/disabilities, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, and geographic region, and more.

In an organization so reliant on its people, creating a diverse and inclusive community is not only the right thing to do, but it is also critical to the successful implementation of our mission. The greatest challenges facing us in the century ahead are incredibly complex and will require diverse teams who can work collaboratively and innovatively. Actively seeking a student body, faculty and staff that represents the diversity of our region, nation and world is necessary to prepare our students for an increasingly globalized and connected world.

As Lincoln University looks into the future and prepares to meet the exciting challenges of the growing, thriving and remarkably diverse State of California, as well as the needs of a changing nation, we will continue to be guided by the principles of inclusive excellence. We must continue to strive for a community that embraces all its members, provides equality of opportunity for all, and actively encourages all voices to be heard. Everyone must be welcomed and treated with dignity and respect, and each person's story must be honored.

Lincoln University celebrates different cultures, engages in thoughtful debates and cultivates the individual and collective flourishing of all of us.

APPENDIX 5. Bylaws of Lincoln University Student Association (LUSA)

Purpose and Leadership

The Student Government Association is the officially recognized student organization that provides a forum of free exchange of ideas among students. Its purpose is to initiate student activities and help promote the students' welfare on campus. The Director of Student Services oversee The Lincoln University Student Association.

Article I

Name

The name of the organization is Lincoln University Student Association, also referred to as LUSA

Article II

Membership

All enrolled Lincoln University students are entitled to be members of LUSA with an equal voice and vote therein.

Article III

Composition

Officers of LUSA / Election

To give students the opportunity to participate in activities at Lincoln University, some guidelines have been set:

All officers must have and continue to maintain a cumulative 2.5 or higher grade point average (GPA).

All officers must be studying on campus during regular sessions for at least spring and fall semesters.

All officers must be enrolled full-time.

Powers and Duties of Officers

The President shall serve as the chief executive officer of the organization and serve as the official spokesperson of the organization, representing the policies, views, and opinions of the organization in relation to the campus and community at large.

The President shall have such further powers and duties as may be prescribed by the organization.

The Vice President shall preside at organization meetings in the absence of the President. The Vice President shall perform all legal duties assigned by the President.

The Vice President shall assume the office of President if the office becomes vacant.

The Treasurer shall handle all financial affairs and budgeting of the organization, maintain all necessary accounting records, and prepare monthly financial reports.

The Treasurer shall collect and deposit all dues and fees. The Treasurer shall maintain bank accounts in the organization's name, with signatures of both the Treasurer and President for authorized disbursements.

The Secretary shall take minutes at all meetings of the organization, keep these on file, and submit required copies to all organization members.

The Secretary shall be responsible for all organizational correspondence and shall keep copies on file..

The Secretary shall maintain membership records for the organization

LUSA President & Recognition

All LUSA presidents will have the opportunity to speak at either the official graduation party celebration or at the graduation ceremony.

Meetings and Operations

LUSA aims to have at least one formal meeting each month that is open to the student body and ‘unofficial’ meetings among the elected officers, as needed. Minutes of the meeting and attendance records must kept for all.

The secretary shall prepare an agenda for all meetings and must be available at least 1 day in advance of the meeting.

Any Lincoln student may attend formal meetings and has the right to propose legislation or vote, as needed.

Lincoln University faculty, administration, and general staff may also attend meetings.

If the President is unable to attend a meeting the Vice President should be present. If both are absent a member of elected officers should be allowed to lead the meeting.

New Organization

Any new organization proposed by students wishing to be formally recognized must submit a typed constitution to the LUSA officers that includes the following:

Name and purpose of the organization Eligibility of members

Roles and duties of members Attendance policies

Any financial procedures (if applicable)

Amendment

An amendment to this constitution shall be passed with a 2/3 vote of the executive in attendance at a scheduled meeting.

No person shall formally introduce an amendment to this constitution if they have not first consulted with the LUSA executive body or the Director of Student Services.

The Bylaws will be kept on file with the Student Services Director at all times. Any revision should be noted and dated.
